Double

HEIGHT

The house

Casa Travertino occupies the last lot of its private street inside El Campanario, which is why every terrace looks at the mountains. The ground floor is made for gathering: living room with bar and dining in double height, a kitchen with breakfast area, a covered terrace and a sun deck around the pool. Upstairs, three en-suite bedrooms, a family TV room and a lobby that works as a reading room or linen closet. Newly built; never lived in.

Architecture

Double-height living with bar and dining on the ground floor, terraces to the mountains; three en-suite bedrooms and a family room upstairs; a flexible en-suite room below.

Site

Program

Ground level

Garage for 3 cars · staff room with bath and service patio · kitchen with breakfast area · en-suite room (gym / study / bedroom) · living-bar and dining in double height · covered terrace · sun deck and pool · outdoor half-bath · guest half-bath · storage

Upper level

Three bedrooms with baths · family TV room · lobby for reading or linen

Location

Club de Golf El Campanario, Querétaro — the last lot of its private street, with open mountain views.

Last lot of its private street in El Campanario golf club, Querétaro — open mountain views with nothing to be built in front.

Materials

Newly built; stone, concrete and glass; pool with sun deck and covered terrace.

Condition

New. Never lived in.

Potential

The ground-floor suite absorbs a gym, an office or a fourth bedroom without touching the rest of the plan.

ROBERTO'S NOTES

The double height was drawn for the mountains. Sit at the bar late in the afternoon and the reason is obvious.
