Casa Travertino

THE HOUSE

Casa Travertino occupies the last lot of its private street inside El Campanario Residencial & Golf, which is why every terrace looks at the mountains. The ground floor is made for gathering: living room with bar and dining in double height, a kitchen with breakfast area, a covered terrace and a sun deck around the pool. Four en-suite bedrooms in all — three upstairs with a family TV room and a lobby that works as a reading room or linen closet, plus one on the ground floor — and full staff quarters. Newly built; never lived in.

ARCHITECTURE

Double-height living with bar and dining on the ground floor, terraces to the mountains; four en-suite bedrooms — three upstairs with a family room, one on the ground floor — plus staff quarters.

SITE

Last lot of its private street in El Campanario Residencial & Golf, Querétaro — open mountain views with nothing to be built in front.

MATERIALS

Newly built; stone, concrete and glass; pool with sun deck and covered terrace.

CONDITION

New. Never lived in.

POTENTIAL

The ground-floor suite absorbs a gym, an office or a fourth bedroom without touching the rest of the plan.

> ROBERTO'S NOTES
>
> The double height was drawn for the mountains. Sit at the bar late in the afternoon and the reason is obvious.
